

Conference Submission Example

- Author(s): M. Student and T. Pedagogue
- Department: Silly Hats
- Supervisor: T. Pedagogue
- Current Student Status: Masters
- Title: The past: is it costing our future?
- Abstract (max 250 words): With 19,000 scheduled monuments, 1600 registered parks and gardens, 28 world heritage sites and over 370,000 listed buildings, the UK is awash with built heritage assets: cultural, religious, archaeological and industrial, dating from 2300BC to the Industrial Revolution and later. The numbers continue to rise. How does one put a price on the priceless? What is the cost of protecting and preserving this multitude of homes, castles, industrial buildings and urban social history and, more importantly, is it sustainable? Our project focuses on the Economics of Built Heritage and will examine the business models of heritage assets whose incomes support their own preservation. We also consider how those that face market failure are assisted, if indeed they are, and by whom.
- Preferred Presentation Type: Talk
- Contact E-mail: phd.rep@ulgsa.ca
- Contact Phone Number: 4031234567
- I Agree to the Terms & Conditions!: yes